The Daily Gazette.

City of Janesville.

Monday Evening, Dec. 2, 1861.

Official Paper of the City.

Forever float that standard sheet!
Where breathes the fox but falls before us?
With Freedom's soil beneath our feet,
And Freedom's banner streaming o'er us!

Capt. Wilkes Sustained.

We are well pleased to learn that on examination in the case of the arrest of Mason and Slidell, by our government, it is ascertained that international law and precedents entirely sustain Capt. Wilkes in what he has done. It appears that he would have been just as fully justified if he had captured the Trent and brought her along. The act was, however, somewhat unpremeditated on his part, and he had not time to fully post himself on the rights of belligerents. Great Britain having taken great care to insist that both parties in the rebellion are belligerents, cannot now deny the rights of belligerents to us; one of which consists in capturing an otherwise neutral ship and making prisoners of its inmates if found carrying dispatches belonging to the opposite belligerent party. It is just here where John Bull "put his foot in."

The Way It Looks.

As our Washington correspondent says, if Gen. Fremont is not found to be wilfully corrupt, in his management of the western department, the people will render a verdict of not guilty on the charges of extravagance and incompetency. Very little economy has been used anywhere, even at those points where it could be practiced, as at Washington; and those making charges should, themselves, show a clear record. As to incompetency, nothing in the whole course of the war betrayed a greater want of military knowledge and sense than the affair at Bull's Bluff. This took place right under the eye and direction of the general-in-chief, and of the best, as is supposed, and most experienced of our military chiefs. It will be useless for the central authority to overhaul Fremont for incompetency, as this disgraceful affair can never be excelled in the huge bold-headedness of its inception and execution.

Forward towards Nashville.

It is evident that the war is to be transferred from the east to the west. Immense numbers of federal troops are moving towards Louisville. The army in Western Virginia, except a few to hold the country during the winter, is on its way to Kentucky by steamboats and railroads. The troops withdrawn from Missouri are going to Cairo, and from thence to Louisville, while the new regiments from Wisconsin, Illinois, Iowa and Minnesota, are all concentrating towards that point. Before many days we may expect to hear stirring news from Kentucky; probably the line of the Louisville and Nashville railroad, will be the theatre of the grand movement, and it will wind up by taking the new capitol of Jeff. Davis's kingdom.

Great Impudence.

It is said that Bright, Powell and Vallandigham are at Washington, and intend to take their seats in congress, notwithstanding their out-spoken words, which gave comfort if not aid to the rebels in arms. If editors of newspapers and private individuals can be sent to Fort Lafayette, for what they say, why not these open mouthed traitors? We hope congress will do something more than expel these men. If congress has not the power to punish them, let the military authority take hold of them, as well as traitors of a lesser note. It will not do to show partiality in these cases. The more influential the traitor, the greater and more certain the punishment should be the rule.

Jeff. Davis to Southern Property Holders.—The independent money-writer says:

"A northern gentleman of great wealth, well known to us, went to Mr. Jeff. Davis, the president of the southern confederacy, and said: 'Mr. Davis, you and I are old friends. I am a quiet man; I do not wish to be involved in these national troubles, and shall go to Europe. You know I have a good deal of property at the south, and I appeal to you to permit it to remain untouched.' 'Sir,' replied Mr. Davis, 'it is true we are old friends, and I value your friendship; but I assure you that every dollar of your property on which we can lay our hands shall, as the property of a northern man, be confiscated to the uses of the state! There are about eight hundred millions belonging to northern men within our reach, and we shall treat it all in the same way! We do not pretend to give the exact words of the conversation, but this was its purport.'

While the rebels are making the most of everything in their power, and confiscating the property of every Unionist, our government is treating the rebels so tenderly as to offer a premium for every man in the seceded states to cast his lot with the rebellion. A Unionist receives no more protection from federal authority than a secessionist; while the confederates discriminate in a telling way between their friends and foes. The place of safety, therefore, is in the ranks of secession. Who can wonder that Union men in the south are scarce as hen's teeth, when crime brings no penalties, and loyalty receives no more favor than rebellion?

Another "grand custom" was being prepared at Dabney. A thousand human beings were to be sacrificed.

If you give a jest, take one.

Correspondence of the Daily Gazette.
From the National Capitol.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 26th, 1861.
I'm going to stop finding fault pretty soon, but the more I think of the ungenerous treatment of General Fremont, the madder I get. I have just read a dispatch that Price and McCulloch have turned round and are raising "Old Nick" in Southern Missouri. Now, if there don't turn out to be some pretty good reason why the only man that they care anything about was not permitted to wipe them out, it seems to me that the Union men in Missouri will turn over to the rebels, and I don't know but they ought to. It grieves me to think of it. My praying spirit is all gone, and my hope nearly: this "hoping against hope" is wearing out, and won't last always! If it can be shown that Fremont has been grossly corrupt and dishonest in his dealings with the government, and wilfully so, nobody will complain at his removal. But any charge of incompetency won't satisfy the people, for they have eyes as well as other folks. Neither will it satisfy the people that his movements cost a million more or less than might have been under more favorable circumstances. The administration have been too notoriously profuse in other quarters in expenditure to have that charge go down. The question was not and is not, whether a permanent and honorable peace is going to cost the country a hundred million more or less, but the question is, can we have such a peace at all. Nobody pretends that we can without fighting for it; and everybody seems to agree that the shorter the war the cheaper.

MORNING DESPATCHES.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 1.

Special to Tribune.—No fear need be respecting the position of the executive on the seizure of Mason and Slidell. It will take, as the public will learn officially to-morrow, the same ground as that upon which the nation has settled, holding that Capt. Wilkes only error was in not seizing the Trent also.

The clerk of the house received a letter from Mr. Eli, of New York, now prisoner at Richmond, desiring his name put on the list, as he should be here to occupy his seat this session.

A knowledge of the peculiar character of the weapon this "enemy" was armed with, was the incentive that threw a "forlorn hope" of his brave comrades into the saddle, and urged them forward forty miles in advance to seek out the flying foe, and establish before it was too late the quality of their courage, leaving as a momento for all time to come, a few headstones upon the plains of Springfield, "SACRED TO THE MEMORY" of a campaign they plainly saw was about to be arrested without the seal of blood! Noble, self-sacrificing men! The deed was valiantly done! And the memory of the dead will be ever precious in the hearts of their surviving comrades. Don't think because I am so fervent on this topic, that I condemn everything that the government is doing. It is not so. I see much, very much, that is cause of congratulation, and gives me great confidence in our ultimate success. But the slay kind of course along in the case of Fremont has given me alarm—not for him, but for the cause in which he enlisted with what certainly seemed to be the full confidence and approval of the government and the people. Let us have a "court of inquiry," and let the people know what were and what are the "resons" for this proceeding. There is another "great review" to day. It is preparation to anything except winter quarters, its all right. The weather is superb.

AFTERNOON DESPATCHES.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 2.

SENATE.—The Vice President called the senate to order at noon. About 10 members were present.

On motion of Mr. Hall, 12 o'clock was fixed for daily sessions.

On motion of Grimes a message was ordered to be sent to the house that a quorum of the senate was present and was ready to proceed to business.

The senate concurred in the resolution of the house to wait on the president, and appointed as the committee Messrs. Hale, Trumbull and Latham.

Mr. Trumbull of Illinois gave notice that he would introduce a bill to-morrow to confiscate the property of rebels, and give freedom to persons in slave states.

Mr. Wilkinson of Minnesota, gave no notice of a bill to abolish the distinction between regular and volunteer forces.

An informal recess was then taken.

House.—Opened with prayer. The roll was then called, and forty-four answered to their names. Sergeant and Phelps of California, Hooper of Massachusetts, Wilbourn of Iowa, Bemis, Bemis delegate from Utah, and Cradlebaugh, delegate from Nevada, were sworn in.

Mr. Wilkes moved that Mr. Maynard of Tennessee be sworn in as a member from the 2d district of Tennessee.

After some discussion as to whether Mr. Maynard was elected before or after the attempted secession of Tennessee, Mr. M. was sworn in.

Mr. Watts, delegate from New Mexico, was sworn in.

Mr. Blair, of Virginia, successor to Carlisle, was also qualified.

Mr. Richardson moved that Mr. Segur be sworn in.

Mr. Dawes desired the case to be referred.

Mr. Richardson earnestly argued that Segur should be sworn in. The house should not deny the people of Acconne and Northampton counties a proper representation, especially as they had laid down their arms which they had taken up again since the suppression of the insurrection of 1831. The severity of the Russian officials increased; and frightful excesses are daily witnessed not only at Warsaw, but throughout the parts of the country. All public buildings, such as churches, schools, theatres, &c., are closed, and the cities present the appearance of so many cemeteries. Ecclesiastics of all ranks have been dragged in hundreds from their houses and thrown into prison, after being unmercifully beaten in many cases. Several members of the citizens' delegation, so useful lately in maintaining order, have also been incarcerated. General Koronin, governor of the province of Plock, lately ordered three of the best ladies in the capital town to be publicly whipped. Similar accounts come up from all the provinces of Poland; meanwhile, though troops continue to pour in from every quarter, the spirit of the people remains unbroken. This dogged persistence is evidently more annoying than an open revolt would be to the Hungarian tyrants.

The condition of Poland is represented as being more wretched than at any time since the suppression of the insurrection of 1831. Letters from Italy make frequent mention of the increased cost of living in most parts of Italy, caused in part by the defective crops of last summer, but principally by the greater abundance of money in circulation, and the more general prosperity which has dawned upon that peninsula.

As to the first of these agencies, the crop of maize has suffered most, having been burned by the drought. The yield of rye and wheat, however, has been plentiful, and that of rice abundant. The vintage of Italy has been such as has not been known for ten years previously; and Italian wine now promises to take the place of those from Madrid, Portugal, France or Rhine, in foreign markets.

Mr. Hickling of Illinois argued that Mr. Segur should be admitted in accordance with the principles already settled at the last session.

Mr. Dawes desired no disrespect by wishing the question referred. He wanted the house to consider the subject in all its bearings.

It should be ascertained whether this gentleman was elected by 120 or 100 votes in a district where 10,000 may be.

He wanted a rule they could stand by in future. The subject was then referred to the committee on elections.

On motion of Mr. Fonton, it was resolved that a committee be appointed to join such as may be appointed by the senate, to wait on the President and inform him that a quorum of both houses has assembled and is ready to proceed to business.

Official Paper of the City.

Forever float that standard sheet!
Where breathes the foe but falls before us?

And Freedom's banner streaming o'er us!

Capt. Wilkes Sustained.

We are well pleased to learn that on examination in the case of the arrest of Mason and Slidell, by our government, it is ascertained that international law and precedents entirely sustain Capt. Wilkes in what he has done. It appears that he would have been just as fully justified if he had captured the Trent and brought her along. The act was, however, somewhat unpremeditated on his part, and he had not time to fully post himself on the rights of belligerents. Great Britain having taken great care to insist that both parties in the rebellion are belligerents, cannot now deny the rights of belligerents to us; one of which consists in capturing an otherwise neutral ship and making prisoners of its inmates if found carrying dispatches belonging to the opposite belligerent party. It is just here where John Bull "put his foot in."

The Way it Looks.

As our Washington correspondent says, if Gen. Fremont is not found to be wilfully corrupt, in his management of the western department, the people will render a verdict of not guilty on the charges of extravagance and incompetency. Very little economy has been used anywhere, even at those points where it could be practiced, as at Washington; and those making charges should, themselves, show a clear record. As to incompetency, nothing in the whole course of the war betrayed a greater want of military knowledge and sense than the affair at Bull's Bluff. This took place right under the eye and direction of the general-in-chief, and of the best, as is supposed, and most experienced of our military chiefs. It will be useless for the central authority to overhaul Fremont for incompetency, as this disgraceful affair can never be excused in the huge but-headedness of its inception and execution.

Forward towards Nashville.

It is evident that the war is to be transferred from the east to the west. Immense numbers of federal troops are moving towards Louisville. The army in Western Virginia, except a few to hold the country during the winter, is on its way to Kentucky by steamboats and railroads. The troops withdrawn from Missouri are going to Cairo, and from thence to Louisville, while the new regiments from Wisconsin, Illinois, Iowa and Minnesota, are all concentrating towards that point. Before many days we may expect to hear stirring news from Kentucky; probably the line of the Louisville and Nashville railroad, will be the theatre of the grand movement, and it will wind up by taking the new capital of Jeff. Davis' kingdom.

Great Impudence.

It is said that Bright, Powell and Vallandigham are at Washington, and intend to take their seats in congress, notwithstanding their out-spoken words, which gave comfort if not aid to the rebels in arms. If editors of newspapers and private individuals can be sent to Fort Lafayette, for what they say, why not these open mouthed traitors? We hope congress will do something more than expel these men. If congress has not the power to punish them, let the military authority take hold of them, as well as traitors of a lesser note. It will not do to show partiality in these cases. The more influential the traitor, the greater and more certain the punishment should be the rule.

JEFF. DAVIS TO SOUTHERN PROPERTY HOLDERS.—The Independent money-writer says:

"A northern gentleman of great wealth, well known to us, went to Mr. Jeff. Davis, the president of the southern confederacy, and said: 'Mr. Davis, you and I are old friends. I am a quiet man; I do not wish to be involved in these national troubles, and shall go to Europe. You know I have a good deal of property at the south, and I appeal to you to permit it to remain untouched.' 'Sir,' replied Mr. Davis, 'it is true we are old friends, and I value your friendship; but I assure you that every dollar of your property on which we can lay our hands shall, as the property of a northern man, be confiscated to the use of the state.' There are about eight hundred millions belonging to northern men within our reach, and we shall treat it all in the same way." We do not pretend to give the exact words of the conversation, but this was its purport."

While the rebels are making the most of everything in their power, and confiscating the property of every Unionist, our government is treating the rebels so tenderly as to offer a premium for every man in the seceded states to cast his lot with the rebellion. A Unionist receives no more protection from federal authority than a secessionist; while the confederates discriminate in a telling way between their friends and foes. The place of safety, therefore, is in the ranks of secession. Who can wonder that Union men in the south are scarce as hen's teeth, when crime brings no penalties, and loyalty receives no more favor than rebellion?

Another "grand custom" was being prepared at Dahomey. A thousand human beings were to be sacrificed.

If you give a jest, take one.

Correspondence of the Daily Gazette, from the National Capitol.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 26th, 1861.

I'm going to stop finding fault pretty soon, but the more I think of the ungenerous treatment of General Fremont, the madder I get. I have just read a dispatch that Price and McCulloch have turned round and are raising "Old Nick" in Southern Missouri. Now, if there don't turn out to be some pretty good reason why the only man that they care anything about was not permitted to wipe them out, it seems to me that the Union men in Missouri will turn over to the rebels, and I don't know but they ought to. It grieves me to think of it. My praying spirit is all gone, and my hope nearly: this "hoping against hope" is wearing out, and won't last always! If it can be shown that Fremont has been grossly corrupt and dishonest in his dealings with the government, and wilfully so, nobody will complain at his removal. But any charge of incompetency won't satisfy the people, for they have eyes as well as other folks. Neither will it satisfy the people that his movements cost a million more or less than might have been under more favorable circumstances. The administration have been too notoriously profuse in other quarters in expenditures to have that humbug go down. The question was not and is not, whether a permanent and honorable peace is going to cost the country a hundred million more or less, but the question is, can we have such a peace at all. Nobody pretends that we can without fighting for it; and everybody seems to agree that the short or the war the cheaper. In the name of common sense, then, where is the economy of these retrograde movements? By the time Halleck gets his army all well drilled in his particular tactics, and the "fugitive slaves" all cleaned out of his "jines," McCulloch and Price will be in full possession of their old positions, and the thing will have to be all gone over again! It will take a new kind of logic to make the people see the economy of the affair! It will puzzle Halleck a little, I apprehend, at this season of the year to move a large army any faster or cheaper than Fremont did, with as everybody admits, entirely inadequate means of transportation. Another thing—Fremont did that which will puzzle Halleck, unless he adopts a more earnest policy than his order about fugitive slaves foreshadows, and that is to scare the rebels all out of the state without fighting! Fremont never would have ordered the firing of a single gun, because he would not have had a chance to do so, but for the enemy he knew was close upon his heels in the rear! Knowledge of the peculiar character of the weapons this "enemy" was armed with, was the incentive that threw a "further hope" of his brave comrades into the saddle, and urged them forward forty miles in advance to seek out the flying foe, and establish before it was too late the quality of their courage, leaving as a momento for all time to come, a few headstones upon the plains of Springfield, "SACRED TO THE MEMORY" of a campaign they plainly saw was about to be arrested without the seal of blood! WASHINGTON, Dec. 1.

Special to Tribune.—No fear need be felt respecting the position of the executive on the seizure of Mason and Slidell. It will take, as the public will learn officially to-morrow, the same ground, as that upon which the nation has settled, holding that Capt. Wilkes's only error was in not seizing the Trent also.

The clerk of the house received a letter from Mr. Ely, of New York, now prisoner at Richmond, desiring his name put on the list, as he should be here to occupy his seat this session.

He brings important intelligence, which he immediately communicated to our government.

He says the greatest excitement prevailed in Richmond and throughout the south, respecting the naval and military expeditions along the entire southern coast. The troops from the states most exposed have signified their determination to return home, and large numbers had already started. In Richmond, a few days before he left, much difficulty was experienced in quelling a rebellious spirit among several regiments from Georgia, South Carolina and Louisiana. They were restrained only by positive promises from Jeff. Davis and the secretary of war, that a sufficient number of troops should be despatched from these states to protect, not only the states, but to drive the Yankees from southern soil. The Virginians, however, were indignant and were threatening to leave against their congress.

There seemed to be, he says, a very general feeling among the southern people to abandon Virginia entirely, and allow her to fall into the hands of the federal government. They regarded it as too expensive to keep an army on her soil. The rebel hope now is merely to keep our army from advancing into the interior from their coast lands.

Upon the renewed urgent application of Geo. D. Prentiss, of the Louisville Journal, Secretary Seward, yesterday, ordered the release of his brother-in-law, Calhoun Benham, and also ex-Senator Gwin, from Fort Lafayette.

The report of the secretary of the navy after mentioning the capture of Messrs. Slidell and Mason, says that the prompt and decisive action of Capt. Wilkes on this occasion, merited and received the approbation of the government, which had these rebels emmigrated on board, it may, in view of the special circumstances and of its patriotic motives, be excused; but it must by no means be permitted to constitute a precedent hereafter, for the treatment of any case of a similar infraction of neutral obligations, by foreign vessels engaged in the commerce of the carrying trade.

Times' dispatch.—Jesse D. Bright, of Indiana, is here, and intends to take his seat in the senate to-morrow, notwithstanding his reasonable letter to his excellency Jeff. Davis, president of the confederate states, recommending to that rebel functionary the adoption of an improved fire arm, to be used against winter quarters, it is all right. The weather is superb.

The London Times predicts discord among the allies. It says:

"If the intervention of the contracting powers is carried beyond a certain point a conflict of opinion may possibly arise."

The mere demonstration will probably suffice to exert at least a promise of satisfaction and amendment from the chief who may chance to be in possession of power when the expedition arrives; but if it is attempted to establish a government for Mexico on a durable basis—and nothing less, it perhaps, can insure the tranquillity of the country—it will be necessary to make choice between the two factions which have hitherto contended for superiority, and to throw all the weight of European patronage into one scale or the other.

INSUBORDINATION AT RICHMOND—TWO OR THREE SOLDIERS SHOT WEEKLY.—A letter from H. Wagner, from Camp Herman, Richmond, Va., to his father in Charleston, found in Fort Walker, contains the following passage:

"There is a great want of system in every thing they do here, and a constant uproar in the different regiments. We have in our neighborhood a battalion of cavalry, Col. Gregg's regiment, a Polish brigade, two Louisiana regiments, and some others whom I have thought of inquiring about, who are

Insurance against loss or damage by fire, of Dwelling, Furniture, Stores, Warehouses, Merchandise, Mills, Manufactories, and most other kinds of property, can be had at a reasonable rate, and with the best security, as the nature of the risks and security of policy-holders will admit.

The above is the oldest company doing business in this country, and with peculiar propriety has been designated "The Old Hartford." As an indemnity to the insured, it refers to a solid million of assets well invested, and the policyholder would be well assured of a safe and public life. For these reasons, we offer our history of success in business, and honorable dealing with its peers, for over half a century, as amply sufficient for the protection of the insured.

The Daily Gazette.

City of Janesville.

Monday Evening, Dec. 2, 1861.

Official Paper of the City.

Forever float that standard sheet!
Where breathes the foe but falls before us?
With Freedom's soil beneath our feet,
And Freedom's banner streaming o'er us!

Capt. Wilkes Sustained.

We are well pleased to learn that on examination in the case of the arrest of Mason and Slidell, by our government, it is ascertained that international law and precedents entirely sustain Capt. Wilkes in what he has done. It appears that he would have been just as fully justified if he had captured the Trent and brought her along. The act was, however, somewhat unpremeditated on his part, and he had not time to fully post himself on the rights of belligerents. Great Britain having taken great care to insist that both parties in the rebellion are belligerents, cannot now deny the rights of belligerents to us; one of which consists in capturing an otherwise neutral ship and making prisoners of its inmates if found carrying dispatches belonging to the opposite belligerent party. It is just here where John Bull "put his foot in."

The Way it Looks.

As our Washington correspondent says, if Gen. Fremont is not found to be wilfully corrupt, in his management of the western department, the people will render a verdict of not guilty on the charges of extravagance and incompetency. Very little economy has been used any where, even at those points where it could be practiced, as at Washington; and those making charges should, themselves, show a clear record. As to incompetency, nothing in the whole course of the war betrayed a greater want of military knowledge and sense than the affair at Ball's Bluff. This took place right under the eye and direction of the general-in-chief, and of the best, as is supposed, and most experienced of our military chiefs. It will be useless for the central authority to overhaul Fremont for incompetency, as this disgraceful affair can never be excelled in the huge bull-headedness of its inception and execution.

Forward towards Nashville.

It is evident that the war is to be transferred from the east to the west. Immense numbers of federal troops are moving towards Louisville. The army in Western Virginia, except a few to hold the country during the winter, is on its way to Kentucky by steamboats and railroads. The troops withdrawn from Missouri are going to Cairo, and from thence to Louisville, while the new regiments from Wisconsin, Illinois, Iowa and Minnesota, are all concentrating towards that point. Before many days we may expect to hear stirring news from Kentucky; probably the line of the Louisville and Nashville railroad, will be the theatre of the grand movement, and it will wind up by taking the new capitol of Jeff. Davis' kingdom.

Great Impudence.

It is said that Bright, Powell and Vandigham are at Washington, and intend to take their seats in congress, notwithstanding their out-spoken words, which gave comfort if not aid to the rebels in arms. If editors of newspapers and private individuals can be sent to Fort Lafayette, for what they say, why not these open mouthed traitors? We hope congress will do something more than expel these men. If congress has not the power to punish them, let the military authority take hold of them, as well as traitors of a lesser note. It will not do to show partiality in these cases. The more influential the traitor, the greater and more certain the punishment should be the rule.

JEFF. DAVIS TO SOUTHERN PROPERTY HOLDERS.—The Independent money-writer says:

"A northern gentleman of great wealth, well known to us, went to Mr. Jeff. Davis, the president of the southern confederacy, and said: 'Mr. Davis, you and I are old friends. I am a quiet man; I do not wish to be involved in these national troubles, and shall go to Europe. You know I have a good deal of property at the south, and I appeal to you to permit it to remain untouched.' 'Sir,' replied Mr. Davis, 'it is true we are old friends, and I value your friendship; but I assure you that every dollar of your property on which we can lay our hands shall, as the property of a northern man, be confiscated to the uses of the state! There are about eight hundred millions belonging to northern men within our reach, and we shall treat it all in the same way!' We do not pretend to give the exact words of the conversation, but this was its purport."

While the rebels are making the most of everything in their power, and confiscating the property of every Unionist, our government is treating the rebels so tenderly as to offer a premium for every man in the seceded states to cast his lot with the rebellion. A Unionist receives no more protection from federal authority than a secessionist; while the confederates discriminate in a telling way between their friends and foes. The place of safety, therefore, is in the ranks of secession. Who can wonder that Union men in the south are scarce as hen's teeth, when crime brings no penalties, and loyalty receives no more favor than rebellion?

Another "grand custom" was being prepared at Dahomey. A thousand human beings were to be sacrificed.

Last Night's Report.

NEW YORK, Nov. 30.—Fort Monroe advises say 300 federal prisoners were sent from Richmond on Wednesday.

I'm going to stop finding fault pretty soon, but the more I think of the ungenerous treatment of General Fremont, the madder I get. I have just read a dispatch that Price and McCulloch have turned round and are raising "Old Nick" in Southern Missouri. Now, if there don't turn out to be some pretty good reason why the only man that they care anything about was not permitted to wipe them out, it seems to me that the Union men in Missouri will turn over to the rebels, and I don't know but they ought to. It grieves me to think of it. My praying spirit is all gone, and my hope nearly: this "hoping against hope" is wear out, and won't last always! If it can be shown that Fremont has been grossly corrupt and dishonest in his dealings with the government, and wilfully so, nobody will complain at his removal. But any charge of incompetency won't satisfy the people, for they have eyes as well as other folks. Neither will it satisfy the people that his movements cost a million more or less than might have been under more favorable circumstances. The administration have been notoriously profuse in other quarters in expenditures to have that thumbing go down. The question was not and is not, whether a permanent and honorable peace is going to cost the country a hundred million more or less, but the question is, can we have such a peace at all. Nobody pretends that we can without fighting for it; and everybody seems to agree that the shorter the war the cheaper.

In the name of common sense, then, where is the economy of these retrograde movements? By the time Halleck gets his army all well drilled in his particular tactics, and the "fugitive slaves" all cleaned out of his "lines," McCulloch and Price will be in full possession of their old positions, and the thing will have to be all gone over again! It will take a new kind of logic to make the people see the economy of the affair! It will puzzle Halleck a little, I apprehend, at this season of the year to move a large army any faster or cheaper than Fremont did, with, as everybody admits, entirely inadequate means of transportation. Another thing—Fremont did that which will puzzle Halleck, unless he adopts a more earnest policy than his order about fugitive slaves foreshadows, and that is to scare the rebels all out of the state without fighting! Fremont never would have ordered the firing of a single gun, because he would not have had a chance to do so, but for the enemy he knew was close upon his heels in the rear! A knowledge of the peculiar character of the weapons this "enemy" was armed with, was the incentive that threw a "forlorn hope" of his brave comrades into the saddle, and urged them forward forty miles in advance to seek out the flying foe, and establish before it was too late the quality of their courage, leaving as a memento for all time to come, a few headstones upon the plains of Springfield, "SACRED TO THE MEMORY" of a campaign they plainly saw was about to be arrested without the seal of blood! Noble, self-sacrificing men! The deed was valiantly done! And the memory of the dead will be ever precious in the hearts of their surviving comrades. Don't think because I am so fervent on this topic, that I condemn everything that the government is doing. It is not so. I see much, very much, that is cause of congratulation, and gives me great confidence in our ultimate success. But the sty kind of course all along in the case of Fremont has given me alarm—not for him, but for the cause in which he enlisted with what certainly seemed to be the full confidence and approval of the government and the people. Let us have a "court of inquiry," and let the people know what were and what are the "seasons" for this proceeding. There is another "great review" to-day. If it is preparatory to anything except winter quarters, it's all right. The weather is superb.

A Quebec letter in the Times says at a council of war it had been determined to prepare for emergencies by placing the frontier of Canada in a state of defence. There are rumors that it has been resolved to call out 10,000 volunteers, but nothing authentic.

LOUISVILLE, Nov. 30.—The bridge over the Louisville & Nashville railroad over Rolling Fork was washed away yesterday by a freshet.

Passengers from southern points represent the almost universal reign of terror throughout the southern confederacy.

ROLA, Nov. 29.—A gentleman who left Springfield on Wednesday last, says that McCulloch's forces were marching for Arkansas, having passed Pond Spring at the latest accounts. Price's rebels were reported to be still moving northward.

To-Day's Report.

Reported Exclusively for the Daily Gazette.]

MORNING DESPATCHES.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 1.—Special to Tribune.—No fear need be felt respecting the position of the executive on the seizure of Mason and Slidell. It will take, as the public will learn officially to-morrow, the same ground as that upon which the nation has settled, holding that Capt. Wilkes's only error was in not seizing the Trent also.

The clerk of the house received a letter from Mr. Eli, of New York, now prisoner at Richmond, desiring his name put on the list, as he should be here to occupy his seat this session.

A Union spy who left here some three weeks ago for Richmond, arrived to-day. He left the latter place on Wednesday last. He brings important intelligence, which he immediately communicated to our government. He says the greatest excitement prevailed in Richmond and throughout the south, respecting the naval and military expeditions along the entire southern coast. The troops from the states most exposed have signified their determination to return home, and large numbers had already started. In Richmond, a few days before he left, much difficulty was experienced in quelling a rebellious spirit among several regiments from Georgia, South Carolina and Louisiana. They were restrained only by positive promises from Jeff. Davis and the secretary of war, that a sufficient number of troops should be sent from these states to protect, not only the states, but to drive the Yankees from southern soil. The Virginians, however, were indignant and were threatening divers things against their congress.—There seemed to be, he says, a very general feeling among the southern people to abandon Virginia entirely, and allow her to fall into the hands of the federal government. They regarded it as too expensive to keep an army on her soil. The rebel hope now is merely to keep our army from advancing into the interior from their coast landings.

Ponpon the renewed urgent application of Geo. D. Prentiss, of the Louisville Journal, General Seward, yesterday, ordered the release of his brother-in-law, Calhoun Bennett, and also ex-Senator Gwin, from Fort Lafayette.

The report of the secretary of the navy, after mentioning the capture of Messrs. Slidell and Mason, says that the prompt and decisive action of Capt. Wilkes on this occasion, merited and received the emphatic approval of this department, and if a too generous forbearance was exhibited by him in not capturing the vessel, which had these rebel emissaries on board, it may, in view of the special circumstances and of its patriotic motives, be excused; but it must by no means be permitted to constitute a precedent hereafter, for the treatment of any case of a similar infraction of neutral obligations, by foreign vessels engaged in the commerce of the carrying trade.

THE MISSOURI DEMOCRAT says Frank Blair is an anxious candidate for appointment as U. S. senator in the place of Waldo P. Johnson, who is in the service of the rebels, recommending that to rebel functionaries, the adoption of an improved fire arm, to be employed against the armies of the Union.

SENATOR POWELL, of Kentucky, also arrived this morning, and it is said, intends taking his seat. In the case of Breckinridge and Burnett, of Kentucky, their seats will probably be declared vacant, and it is thought by some that Senator Powell will be called upon for explanations.

SENATOR POWELL, of Missouri, is in the city, and will take his seat.

IN THE NEWSPAPER AT PORT ROYAL.—Five numbers of a neat little paper, entitled "The Camp Kettle," and "published every opportunity by the field and staff of the Roundhead regiment, Colonel Leasure commanding," had been issued at Port Royal, S. C., previous to the sailing of the Atlantic.

A New Arrangement.

On the 1st of next January a change will be made in the proprietorship of the Gazette Office by the withdrawal of Mr. Bowen. This change will render absolutely necessary a settlement of the subscriptions and other accounts due the present firm. We hope our friends will give this matter their immediate attention, and leave as few debts as possible for settlement after the change is made. It will be easier and better to all concerned to settle before that time, as a settlement must be made.

City and County Orders.

A few city and county orders, in small amounts, convenient for the payment of taxes, for sale at this office.

Donations to Hospital.

By Mrs. Abbie M. Greene, Mrs. L. Bentley, Mrs. James Clark, A. S. West, H. Bentley and others of Albion, Davis county:—2 bottles of currant wine, 8 packages dried fruit, 5 sheets, 9 shirts 3 feather pillows, 1 woolen blanket, 20 pillow cases, several bundles of roller bandages, towels, linen, cotton, 1 nice jar of butter, &c.

By L. H. Carswell, Janesville, 1 box of nice dried fruits—blackberries, prunes, and preserved tomatoes.

The above and other minor donations manifest the liberality of the donors, and will be fully appreciated.

If any friends have blankets or comfortables in preparation for the hospital, let me remark that they are needed now as much as we they will ever be.

The situation of the hospital is a cool one, and the season is becoming severe.—The boys begin to think that if these are not "winter quarters" they never want to see such.

Bring us some old pieces of carpet or worn blankets, to spread over the rough, open floors of the hospital. Charity begins at home. See that Camp Tredway is supplied before you send all your supplies to St. Louis or the Sandwich Islands.

There are eight patients in the hospital, but five of them taking medicine, viz., C. H. Lane, Wm. Everest, H. W. Crow, P. Gausel, and S. E. Mills.

S. S. WALLIHAN, Hospital Steward, 13th Reg. Camp Tredway, Dec. 2.

THE LETTER TO-NIGHT.—Remember the lecture of the Rev. Mr. Helmer at Lappin's Hall, to night.

COLD.—The mercury was down to seven degrees below zero this morning. Pretty cold weather up at Camp Tredway, but the boys don't complain. They say they are about as comfortable as they would be any where else.

BURNED TO DEATH.—Last week a little girl six years old, was so badly burned in Whitewater as to cause her death in a few hours. Her mother had gone out to do washing, and left the girl in charge of two younger children, and the room getting too cold for them, she tried to start up the fire, and in so doing caught her clothes in the flames, and before assistance could be had, was burned almost to a crisp.

A similar accident occurred in Milwaukee a few days since to an adult woman.—She was alone in a room and it is supposed that in working about a cook stove her clothes caught fire.

BANKING LAW.—The vote on the amendments to the banking law has been officially declared. It stands 57,646 for the amendments and 2,515 against it.

MYERS' HOUSE.—We understand that Mr. Kneusel has withdrawn from the management of the Myers' House.

JAYSWELLING.—A gentleman from southern Kansas informs the Leavenworth Times that Col. Montgomery has signed his disapproval of the Jayhawking system in the strongest terms. He is so determined that it shall be stopped, so far at least as his regiment is concerned, that he threatens to shoot the first man caught Jayhawking from either Union men or secessionists. Good for Col. Montgomery.

To Our Debtors.

It will be seen by a notice in another column, that on the first of January next there will be a change in the proprietorship of the Gazette. The NECESSITY of a settlement of ALL our accounts will be apparent to all who will give the subject their attention, and as our own convenience will be materially promoted by a settlement before the dissolution of the partnership, and the interest of no debtor will be injured by doing in season what must come at last, we hope there will be no request or attempt at delay. Mr. Wilcox will devote his time to this matter, and as there are a large number of persons to settle with, let each one be prepared when called on. No one will be turned out of the office if he calls here for that purpose.

Fort Pickens.—We have nothing further from Fort Pickens. The subject seems to have been exhausted Saturday.

All Sorts of Paragraphs.

NEGROES FOR HATTI.—Forty colored persons passed through Cleveland, on Tuesday, from Oberlin on their way to Hayti, where they propose to settle in accordance with the agreement recently made with Redpath. Each emigrant has his passage money advanced and a donation of a certain amount of land on his arrival at the island.

A company of negroes from Toronto and vicinity passed through Buffalo a day or two since, on their way to New York, where they are to take a steamer for Hayti.

The federal government has now in commission about two hundred and twenty-five vessels, with eighty on the stocks, forty of which will be completed within a period of six months.

The Mineral Point railroad has been sold under a decree of foreclosure, to James C. Carter of New York, for $75,000. On the reorganization of the company, Luther Beecher was elected president, and Geo. W. Cobb secretary and superintendent, and the following persons were chosen directors—Ashbel Finch, Luther Beecher, Samuel P. Holmes, James C. Carter and Geo. W. Cobb.

Gov. Wise recently sold his old home-stead, probably in anticipation of the occupation of his district by our troops.

Peschel gives three hundred and fifty miles as the greatest known distance to which sound has been carried in the air. This was when the awful explosion of a volcano at Vincent's was heard at Demarara.

The cannonading of the battle of Jena was heard in the open fields near Dresden, a distance of ninety-two miles, and in the casements of the fortress it was very distinct. The bombardment of Antwerp in 1832, is said to have been heard in the mines of Saxon, three hundred and seventy miles distant.

Thirty-eight negroes arrived in Leavenworth, on Sunday, having been freed by Jennison, and a great number went to Lawrence. Millions of dollars' worth of this kind of property is now running about in Kansas. Leavenworth is crowded with them, and Lawrence has a great number.

P's & B's.—The Boston Traveler remarks: P is almost as good an initial letter for us as B has been for the rebels. We have Pickens, Phillips, Pikeon and Port Royal. The Perry, we believe, took the first prize in the war, and we have prevented the enemy from crossing the Potowmack. Then we hold Paducah, and the Panhandle continues in our possession.

The sale of Senator Douglass' furniture, on Monday of last week, realized about $3,000, and that of Senator Gwin, on Tuesday, about $2,000.

AN ILLINOIS DETECTIVE MURDERED.—A letter from Newton, Benton county, Iowa, from P. F. Harris of that place, states that on the 12th inst., a young man named John Macklin, who has relatives living somewhere in Illinois, came to that place for the purpose of ferreting out a gang of horse thieves and counterfeitors. He was murdered by some of the gang somewhere near Clear lake, a short time since.

FRANK BLAIR, JR., AND GEN. HARNEY.—A St. Louis dispatch to the Times last evening says: "Frank Blair met Gen. Harney on the street and offered to shake hands. Harney replied with a curse and a contemptuous expression, and turned away."

MORTARS SHIPPED.—The shipment of the great 13 inch mortars, now being manufactured at Fort Pitt Works, commenced on Friday. Some 16 or 18 of these immense pieces of ordnance have been proved. 3,000 heavy 13-inch shells were made for them and are now being inspected. 100 shells are shipped with each gun. —Pittsburg Post, Nov. 25.
